Yanks Housed In Canal Zone; Russia Backs Break With U.S.

By JOE MCGOWAN JR.
Associated Press Writer
PANAMA (AP) — U.S. Embassy personnel were housed safely in the Canal Zone today after Panama took the final step in severing diplomatic relations with the United States.

Meanwhile, Soviet Premier Khrushchev threw Soviet support behind the Panamanians and denounced U.S. action in the Canal Zone.

Most U.S. Embassy staff members and their dependents were evacuated to the Canal Zone Friday night shortly before an anti-American student demonstration and several hours after Panama said it was recalling the remainder of its diplomatic staff from Washington.

Panama asked the United States to recall its embassy staff from Panama City, but a U.S. State Department official said the request did not apply to consular officials, Peace Corps volunteers or members of the U.S. Agency for International Development.

MARTIN TO STAY
Because of the exceptions, the United States does not regard the break as final. U.S. officials also indicated that President Johnson's troubleshooter, Edwin M. Martin, planned to remain in Panama. Peace efforts are expected to continue to loosen a deadlock between the two countries over a 1903 treaty which gave the United States perpetual control over the canal.

President Robert Chirri ordered a break in diplomatic relations with the United States Jan. 10—a day after violence erupted on the Canal Zone—but retained some of his diplomatic staff in Washington.

ASSASSIN COSTA RICA
The Panamanian government asked Costa Rica to handle Panamanian interests in the United States. Costa Rica also will handle diplomatic matters for the United States in Panama.

Khrushchev, touring a textile factory in Kalinin, 100 miles northwest of Moscow, with Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro, ridiculed charges that last week's riots in the Canal Zone were staged by pro-Castro Communists.

"It was not comrade Castro who organized the events in Panama," Khrushchev said. "These events are a result of the predatory policy of United States imperialism in Panama."

In the Canal Zone, memorial services were conducted for four American soldiers killed in last week's riots which also claimed the lives of 19 Panamanians.

COUNTY GIRL IS WED TODAY

Miss June Nancy Griest, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joel R. Griest, York Springs R. 2, and Joseph Louis Cicielski Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Cicielski Sr., Seaford, Del., were married this morning at 11 o'clock in St. Patrick's Cathedral, Harrisburg, by the Rev. Edward Deller.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white velvet with a square neckline and satin overskirt. Her illusion veil was fastened to a matching bow and she carried an arrangement of white gardenias and ivy. The maid of honor, Sallie Ann Hawkins, wore a green velvet dress with a bell-shaped skirt and carried a white maribou moff trimmed with ivy and matching hat.

The Misses Alice Anderson and Sharon Forrer, bridesmaids, wore gold velvet dresses with white trim.

Mother And 3 Children Perish In Station Wagon

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) — A 35-year-old mother and three of her children were found dead Friday in the family station wagon, with lethal carbon monoxide fumes still pouring into the closed vehicle.

A vacuum cleaner hose was found attached to the exhaust and extended to a window.

Investigators and the coroner's office are listing the mother's death as suicide and the other three as homicide. The children were being treated for cerebral palsy.

GAS POISONING
The victims were identified as

Look To Community For AFS Donations

The American Field Service committee here is looking to the community to help it reach its $2,500 goal for the student exchange program after students at the Gettysburg Junior and Senior High School overpaid their pledges.

The students pledged $2,325.75 and have paid $2,358.91. J. M. Sheads, member of the high school faculty, told the students it was "just as important for you to fulfill your pledges in this program as it is to have an undefeated basketball team."

The balance of the money needed to reach the $2,500 goal is being sought from groups and individuals in the community.

DAVID RILEY GIVEN $8,200 IN ROAD CASE

An Adams County board of view has listed $8,200 as the damages caused to the property of David A. Riley, Cumberland Township, by the construction of the new Route 15 bypass.

The report of the board, John W. Brehm, William Weidner and Attorney J. Francis Yake Jr., filed in the clerk of courts office, states that slightly over 15 acres of the 147-acre Riley farm on Gettysburg R. 2, was taken for the purposes of the new road.

According to the report, a hearing in the matter was held at the courthouse January 6 at which time Riley claimed damages of $15,000 to his property, stating it was worth $42,000 before and $27,000 after the taking of the land which cut off one end of Riley's farm.

Testifying for the Commonwealth, William A. Bigham, Fairfield Rd., estimated the damages at $7,900, stating the value of the property before the taking was $32,294, and afterwards $24,297.

B. A. Wagner, York, also testifying for the Commonwealth, listed the damages at $8,050, stating the value before the taking $32,750 and afterwards $24,700.

COUNTY BABY BEEVES BRING GOOD PRICES

Adams County youths competing in the Baby Beef class at the Farm Show in Harrisburg received more than two cents a pound more for their beeves than the average paid for the 4-H animals at the annual sale Friday at the close of the show.

The highest amount paid for an Adams County steer was the 35 cents a pound put up by Winter Gardens wholesale meat establishment in New Oxford for the Angus of Shirley Bair, Littlestown R. D.

Winter Gardens also bought the Shorthorn of Daniel Bross, East Berlin R. 2, for 29 cents a pound and the Angus of Barbara Bare, Hanover R. 3, for 29½ cents a pound.

OTHER PRICES
The second highest price for an Adams County beef was the 34½ cents a pound paid by Meadow Valley Abattoir, Gettysburg R. D., for the Angus of Stephen Slaybaugh, Bigler-ville R. D.

Stern's Meat Market, Hanover, bought the steer of David Murren, Hanover R. 4, for 31 cents a pound; Donald Lott, Gettysburg R. D., received 30½ cents a pound for his steer from Hervitz Packing Co., Harrisburg; Sheffer's Meat Market, Brysonia, bought the steer of David Lott, Gettysburg R. D., for 39 cents a pound. Elizabeth Lott, Gettysburg R. 4, sold her steer to a Philadelphia concern for 30 cents a pound and Glenn Miller, Harrisburg, paid 29½ cents a pound for the entry of Dale Bair, Littlestown R. D.

Average for the Adams County steers was $30.80 a hundredweight compared to an average of $28.47 a hundredweight for the sale as a whole, without the grand champion included.

7 COUNTIANS APPOINTED TO FIREMAN UNITS

Seven countians were appointed to committees for the coming year at a meeting of the Firemen's Association of South-eastern Pennsylvania Thursday evening at Hummelstown.

President William Alwood, Carlisle R. 5, named Harry F. Biesecker, Cashtown, a past president of the eight-county organization, as a member of the executive committee.

Fred Myers, 300 N. Stratton St., was named to the law and legislative committee; Glenn Herring, Cashtown, to the finance committee; G. Henry Roth, S. Stratton St., to the publicity committee; Gilbert McKearl, 27 Hanover St., to the membership committee; Donald E. Staub, Gettysburg, to the exhibits committee, and Associate Judge Clarence D. Deardorff, Cashtown, to the memorial committee.

E. Glenn Raffensperger, 30 South St., is fifth vice president of the organization.

200 ATTEND

The Hummelstown Chemical Fire Co. was host for the Southeastern Firemen at the meeting held in the new fire hall at Hummelstown. Lawrence R. Tempin, president of the host company, welcomed the 200 present and V. William Vanderaw, Chambersburg, gave the response.

Joseph F. Fick, Lebanon, chairman of the credentials committee, presented a class of 20 applicants for membership, all of whom were accepted.

It was reported that the annual convention of the Pennsylvania State Firemen's Association will be held in Williamsport September 24 through 26 with headquarters in the Lycoming Hotel.

John H. Zimmerman, Lebanon, reported on new rules of the Internal Revenue Division pertaining to fire companies and fund raising operations of fire departments.

President Alwood announced that the next meeting will be held in Chambersburg April 16 at Franklin Fire Co. No. 4.

PREMATURELY BORN INFANT FOUND FRIDAY

The Adams County coroner, C. G. Crist, has directed "Christian burial" for an 18-week-old human fetus found Friday afternoon in the local sewage disposal plant. He also directed police to conduct an investigation into the matter.

The tiny body of the prematurely born infant was discovered about 2:15 Friday afternoon by Robert Shealer, manager of the sewage disposal plant along Rock Creek, while engaged in cleaning a section of the plant.

Notified of the discovery, Dr. Crist arranged for the body to be removed to the Peters Funeral Home and for its interment in the county home cemetery with graveside services to be conducted by Rev. Donald L. Harper, pastor of Memorial EUB Church.

Dr. Crist said he directed Sgt. Daniel Miller of the borough police and Cpl. Robert Brady of the Pennsylvania State Police to head up the investigation into the case.

'63 Law Library Report Is Filed

The Adams County Law Library spent $1,710.09 for books and other materials during 1963, according to the annual report of the law library committee, Attorneys Donald G. Oyler, H. Thomas Pyle and Ronald J. Hagarman.

The report was approved by the court Friday and placed on file in the prothonotary's office. According to the report, the law library began the year with a balance of $1,778.93, and had receipts of $2,937.50 of which $2,500 was provided by the county and $437.50 represented a percentage of the fees the attorneys received for work as masters and auditors. After expenditure of $1,710.09, the fund ended the year with a balance of $3,006.34.

DeAngelis Charged With Cheating Storage Concern Firm Out Of $46 Million

JERSEY CITY, N.J. (AP)—Anthony DeAngelis, central figure in a $100-million vegetable-oil scandal, was in jail today charged with defrauding a tank-storage concern of nearly $46.5 million.

Also in jail, similarly charged, was Joseph Lomuscio, a former employee of the storage firm.

Superior Court Judge Robert Matthews originally set bail for each at $46,499,295.63, the amount allegedly owed the plaintiff. Later, after hearing pleas from the defendants' lawyers, he agreed to reduce the bail to $150,000 for DeAngelis and $100,000 for Lomuscio.

Matthews said he had granted the reduction on the condition that the two men appear Monday in his court and submit to an examination of their assets. Neither could post bond, and both were taken to jail.

DeAngelis, president of the Allied Food Vegetable Oil Refining Corp. of Bayonne, which went bankrupt two months ago, and Lomuscio were arrested Friday on a complaint filed by Joseph M. Nolan, trustee in bankruptcy for Harbor Tank

Homemakers' Day Is Being Planned

The Adams County Agricultural Extension Homemakers' Advisory Committee will meet Thursday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock in the extension office, 111 Baltimore St., to continue plans for Homemakers' Day.

Other business will be planning for an Oriental art tour to Gettysburg College and other activities for the spring.

Extension Home Economist Helen D. Tunison and her assistant, Mrs. Joann B. Ketterer, said Miss Bette Goddard, of the state university homemaker extension staff, has been invited to attend the session.

SPECIAL DAYS FOR FARMERS BEING PLANNED

Plans for the annual "Crops and Soils Day" and "Adams County Dairy Day" were announced today by County Agent Thomas E. Piper.

The Crops and Soils Day is scheduled for Thursday, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., at the West St. Branch of the Gettysburg National Bank.

The Dairy Day program will be held the same hours, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., at the West St. Branch bank on February 6.

At Thursday's Crops and Soils Day James Patterson of the Extension staff from Pennsylvania State University will open the meeting with a talk on "Use, Don't Misuse, Soil Tests." He will speak again at 2 in the afternoon on "High Analysis Fertilizer — Where to Place It" and "Several Ways to Fertilize a Crop."

LIST SPEAKERS

Clarence Bryner of the extension staff from Penn State will speak on "Making the Most of Your Corn as Silage" at 11 o'clock Thursday morning. At 1:15 that afternoon he will speak on "Managing Sudan Grass, Sudan-Sorghum Hybrids and other annuals" and then will have the final talk of the day, starting at 3 o'clock that afternoon, on "The Changing Picture in Forage Varieties."

Dr. William Adams, extension veterinarian, will be the principal speaker at the "Dairy Day" program February 6. Dr. Adams will speak on "Dairy Breeding Problems and Herd Health" during the morning session. During the afternoon the district meeting for the Southeastern Pennsylvania Artificial Breeding Cooperative will be held. Dairywomen will be guests of the artificial breeders cooperative at luncheon in the Gettysburg Methodist Church.

TELLS OF NEED FOR MENTAL HEALTH CLINIC

"A community of 50,000 people needs a full-time mental health clinic," Dr. Charles E. Goshen, associate professor of psychology at the University of West Virginia School of Medicine, told members and guests of the Adams County Mental Health Association Friday.

Dr. Goshen, who is a Fellow of the American Psychiatric Association and the American Association for the Advancement of Science, spoke Friday afternoon in the Student Union Building on the Gettysburg College campus.

"Such a mental health clinic should supply at least 100 hours of therapy services a week," said Dr. Goshen and should be staffed by a psychiatric social worker, a psychologist and at least a half-time psychiatrist.

STATE HOSPITALS OBSOLETE

The speaker emphasized the benefits of the opportunity for local attention for mental illness as a means of cutting down the number of cases requiring institutional care and avoiding the "chaos" that often attends separation from family and community when a state institution is used.

"The state hospitals as we know them today are obsolete," he said. "They institutionalize from 2,500 to as many as 16,000 which is much too large a place for the kind of care needed by the mentally ill person."

"Chaos results in the life of the individual who is too emotionally disturbed to work. With the loss of this job, he is soon without money and without friends. Going away to a hospital multiplies the problem. He no longer has a place in the community. Once the patient is separated from his home, getting him back is a complex problem. If we can care for him in the community, maybe we can prevent the chaos."

"Presently communities are not prepared to give this kind of care which everyone knows is urgently needed. Last November the mental health bill, sponsored by President Kennedy, was passed by Congress and granted $163 million for the construction of facilities for mental therapy in local communities."

"The construction of more buildings is not the answer. Those funds must not be dissipated on fancy buildings. The fundamental need is the personnel. Get the staff working to help disturbed people and the community will provide a place for them."

"If the services of a good therapy staff are available, many emotionally disturbed people will voluntarily seek help and this is a long step in their favor," Dr. Goshen said.

He urged that service organizations, the county school system

The dinner will be served in the cafeteria and the judo program will be presented immediately afterwards in the school auditorium.

B. F. YANTIS, 71, CIGAR MAKER DIES AT HOME

Brook F. Yantis, 71, a lifelong cigar maker, died unexpectedly at 3:30 o'clock this morning at his home at 355 North St., McSherrystown. He has been under the care of a physician for some time.

He was a charter member of the McSherrystown Knights of Columbus, where he served as a warden for more than 25 years.

He was a member of the Annunciation of the BVM Church, and the Holy Name Society. He also was a member of the McSherrystown Eagles, Loyal Order of Moose, the McSherrystown Home Association, the Hanover Home Association, the McSherrystown Fire Company and the Adams County Firemen's Association.

SERVICES TUESDAY

He was employed by the F. X. Smith and Son Cigar Co.

A son of the late John D. and Clara Smith Yantis, he is survived by his widow, Mrs. Regina Snyder Yantis, whom he married in 1917; a daughter, Sister Serathica, Sacred Heart Convent, Vineland, N. J.; and four sons: Francis, 4 North St.; Adrian, 409 North St.; Charles B., at home, and Gerald C., Paoli; a sister, Mrs. Francis John, Norristown, and 16 grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday morning with prayers at 9:30 o'clock at the Walter Funeral Home, McSherrystown, followed by a solemn requiem high mass at 10 o'clock in Annunciation Church. Burial will be made in the parish cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home Monday evening for the Rosary at 8 o'clock.

Local Professor Given $4,800 Grant

John T. Held, assistant professor of education at Gettysburg College, has received a study grant of $4,800 from the education fund of the Board of College Education and Church Vocations of the Lutheran Church in America.

The grant will enable Held to continue doctoral studies at the University of Maryland where he is a candidate for a doctorate degree in education.

Held will receive a leave of absence from his teaching duties for the 1964-65 academic year.

YOUNG GOP TO MEET

The Adams County Young Republicans Club will meet Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock in the Patio Room of the Howard Johnson Motel, President Oscar F. Spicer announced today. Committee assignments for the coming year will be given at the meeting.

LICENSED TO WED

Suspect Young Mother Suffocated Twin Sons

WILKES-BARRE, Pa. (AP)—A 26-year-old mother apparently smothered her twin infant sons and then attempted suicide Friday night, police said.

Mrs. Eleanor Esser of Wilkes-Barre is reported in fair condition in Wilkes-Barre General Hospital where she had her stomach pumped after police feared she swallowed a drug or poison.

City and county detectives are investigating the case. The children, 3-year-old Mark and his twin, William, were found dead in their upstairs bedroom Friday night with pillows over their heads. Mrs. Esser was found semiconscious in the downstairs living room.

MAY 30 PARADE ROUTE CUT FOR SCHOOL PUPILS

The length of the route of march for the school children participating in the May 30 parade was shortened by the Memorial Day committee at its annual reorganization meeting Friday evening at the GAR home, E. Middle St.

Under the new plan, the school children will form at the Gettysburg Junior-Senior High School area and enter the parade from there, to march to the National Cemetery a few blocks farther south on Baltimore St.

For years the school children formed at High St. and then marched to Lincoln Square to lead off the procession. Since the closing of the High Street school, the children have formed at Meade School and marched the entire length of the parade route.

TOUGH FOR TEACHERS

Richard Folkenroth, elementary school coordinator here, met with the Memorial Day committee Friday night to protest that the line of march was "too long" for the primary grade students who "are now the largest number of students marching."

Folkenroth recalled that, where for many years the school contingent was made up largely of students through high school, "changes have taken place over the last decade or so, so that now the biggest number of children participating are the First and Second Grades. We have more children in the parade than ever before, but we have no one beyond Sixth Grade."

The present 11-block parade route is "quite a walk for the little youngsters. And quite a walk as well for some of our teachers who no longer are quite as young as they used to be." Because of the length of march, the school official said, "we have 35 teachers with the group when we should have 48."

OTHERWISE USUAL ROUTE

Following Folkenroth's talk, the committee voted that children will form at the high schools where parking facilities will also be better than at Meade School for parents bringing the youngsters to the parade.

The remainder of the procession will form as usual in the Meade School area, including the Boy Scouts and Girl Scout. The speaker and other parade officials will review a local military unit at Lincoln Square as has been the custom for the last few years. After the review the officials of the parade, in cars, will move to a spot on Baltimore St. near Steinwehr Ave. to review the parade.

The parade will move on the usual route from Meade School on Chambersburg St. to Lincoln Square, then south on Baltimore.

REBERT FIRST TAX COLLECTOR TO FILE REPORT

J. Doyle Rebert, Fairfield R. 1, is the first tax collector in the county to file his annual report with the county clerk of courts. His report was filed an hour before Harold D. Hartzell, Hampton, Reading Twp. tax collector, became the second to make the annual return to the clerk's office.

Rebert's report shows he collected $73,293.39 from the 622 holders of real estate and 948 in the township assessed for occupations.

At a salary of $2,481.48, Rebert collected $5,320.45 for the township, $53,758.12 for the school board and $14,114.82 for the county. The taxpayers paid a five mill and $2 per capita tax to the township, a 50-mill real estate, $8 per capita and 20 per cent occupation tax to the school board and 10 1/2 mills plus a $3 per capita tax to the county. The report showed the occupation tax levied by the school board raised $16,413.10.

OWE $7,474

As of the end of the year, according to Rebert's report, the Hamiltonian taxpayers still owed $7,474.81 of their 1963 taxes.

Hartzell's report as tax collector for Reading Twp. shows he collected $92,586.79 at a cost of $4,306.94 of which $4,195.76 was his salary.

Of the total amount, $10,094.72 was for the township, $71,689.40 for the school board and $10,812.67 for the county. The report shows the 15 per cent occupation tax brought in $15,916.96 for the school board. Uncollected taxes at the end of the year totaled $11,383.14.

Evangelism Sunday Will Be Observed

Evangelism Sunday will be observed in the Presbyterian Church Sunday. Rev. Robert A. MacAskill will speak on "Evangelistic Evolution." The sacrament of Baptism will be administered and the youth and adult choirs will sing: "Children of the Heavenly King" by Weimar. The adult choir will sing the anthem "I Love the Church" by Sateren. The Senior High Fellowship will meet with other church youth groups in St. James Lutheran Church at 7:45 p.m.

The annual congregational and corporation meetings, postponed from last week, will be held Monday in Fellowship Hall at 8 p.m.

HIT THE JACKPOT

WESTBURY, N.Y. (AP) — There were only 12,032 trotting fans on hand — the smallest crowd of the season at Roosevelt Raceway — but one better must have thought it was Christmas. He picked the last four winners in the twin double and received $79,680.

That's better than having the winning ticket on the Irish Sweepstakes.

TWO FOR RODGERS

NEW YORK (AP) — There are two musicals on the immediate work agenda of composer Richard Rodgers. "I want to vary the pace," he said in disclosing plans to create scores for a song adaptation of "The Seven Year Itch" and a show tentatively entitled "Forever." The program is a 1965 production prospect under the sponsorship of Rodgers and Leland Hayward.

CORNBREAD MIX PROVIDES FAST SPECIAL TREAT

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

If you enjoy the satisfactions of making things "from scratch" we urge you to try this Homemade Cornbread Mix recipe.

You can concoct delightful cornbread and other good things in jigtime once the basic Mix is at hand.

You'll need a really large mixing bowl and sifter. If these aren't at hand, you can pinch-hit. For example, we've used a huge bowl from an old-fashioned washstand bowl - and pitcher set, and a big fine-mesh strainer.

Store the Mix in a tightly covered container in a cool dry room and its staying power will be four to six weeks. If you want to keep your Mix in the refrigerator, as we do, make absolutely sure it is very tightly covered; every time you take out the Mix to use, double-check to make sure it is tightly covered when you put it back.

Although this Mix does not make from it browns nicely. And it has a faintly sweet flavor that comes from the nonfat dry milk solids used.

HOMEMADE CORNBREAD MIX

5 cups sifted flour
1/4 cup baking powder
4 teaspoons salt
5 cups enriched white cornmeal
2 cups nonfat dry milk solids
1 cup shortening

Sift together three times the flour, baking powder, salt and cornmeal. Stir in the nonfat dry milk solids. With a pastry blender, cut in the shortening until the mixture looks like coarse crumbs. Store in a tightly covered container in a cool dry place. Makes about 13 cups.

EXTRA SPECIAL CORNBREAD

1 egg
1 cup water
2 1/2 cups Homemade Cornbread Mix

Donald B. and Alice C. Smith, Conewago Twp., to Lee E. and Suzette M. Little, McSherrystown, a property in Conewago Heights for $1,500.

Donald J. and Eleanor M. Zeigler, York County, to Travis W. and Mary A. Lighty, Abbottstown R. 1, a property in Abbottstown for $1,000.

Dorothy S. and Edward Fowler, Westminster, Md., to Earl W. and Dorothy M. DeHaven, York Springs R. 2, one-half interest in an 80-acre tract in Reading Twp. for $1,225.

The Homemade Cornbread Mix melted butter; stir only until the Mix is dampened. Pour into a greased cake pan (9 by 9 by 1 1/4 inches). Bake in a hot (425 degrees) oven for 25 minutes or until golden brown and cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. Cut into squares in pan and remove with spatula; serve at once, while cornbread is piping hot, so eaters can split and savor with butter.

Note: For a less rich, thicker cornbread, omit the butter or margarine and bake in an 8 by 8 by 2 inch cake pan at the same temperature for the same time. Reconstituted nonfat dry milk or regular milk may be substituted for the water in this version.

CORNBREAD DUMPLINGS FOR MEAT STEW

1 egg
1/4 cup Homemade Cornbread Mix

In a small mixing bowl, beat the egg enough to blend yolk and white. Add water and beat to blend. Add the Mix; stir lightly until blended. Drop by tablespoonfuls (in 8 portions) onto boiling meat stew. Cover tightly; cook 12 to 15 minutes without lifting cover; serve at once. Or drop batter by tablespoonfuls (in 8 portions) onto extremely hot meat stew. Bake in a hot (425 degrees) oven about 20 minutes; serve at once.

CORNBREAD PASTRY FOR CHICKEN PIE

2 cups Homemade Cornbread Mix
1/4 cup shortening
6 tablespoonfuls (about) cold water

Cut the shortening into the Mix until it looks like coarse crumbs. With a fork, mix in the cold water, a tablespoon at a time, until pastry can be formed into a ball. Add an extra tablespoon of water if necessary to have dough hold together. Turn out on lightly floured board or canvas. Divide dough in half; roll out one half to form a 13-inch circle. Fit loosely into a 9-inch pie pan. Trim, allowing 1/4-inch beyond rim. Roll rest of dough to form an 11-inch circle; cut slits to allow steam to escape. Fill bottom crust with hot cooked chicken pie filling. Fold top crust under bottom crust; flute. Bake in a hot (400 degrees) oven for 20 to 25 minutes. Allow to stand for about 5 minutes before cutting and serving.

Mix frozen melon balls with fresh or canned diced pineapple for a refreshing fruit cup; serve as a first course or for dessert.

Northern Debates Technical HS Ties

A decision soon on whether to join with York or Cumberland County in a vocational-technical school organization should be made sometime soon, M. Luther Scott, supervising principal, told Northern Joint School Board directors.

In York County, he said, it appears that plans have progressed sufficiently that it is likely that a vocational-technical school in York or vicinity will be opened in September. Cumberland County plans for a technical school are at least a year behind this schedule, he said.

But favoring a Cumberland County tie is distance. It is but seven miles from Dillsburg to Mechanicsburg, 11 to Carlisle, probable locations for a Cumberland County school. The distance to York is 22 miles. In the Northern Jointure, the directors of Warrington Twp. have shown favor for joining the York organization while Northern Merged School Board directors are favoring the Cumberland tie. Also to be considered will be whether to join as a sponsor of the educational television program being planned by the South Central Educational Broadcasting Council. The council plans to begin operation in September of an educational television station at Harrisburg, to serve a nine-county region.

SEEKS THIRD MEN'S FIGURE SKATING TITLE

GRENOBLE, France (AP)—Alain Calmat of France was favored to capture his third European men's figure skating championship tonight and join five-time women's titlist Skjoldkjær of Holland as a prime favorite in the 1964 Olympics.

Calmat held a comfortable lead over West Germany's Manfred Schnelldorfer at the completion of compulsory figures Friday. The French skater, sixth in the 1960 Olympic competition won by David Jenkins of the United States, was expected to clinch the European crown in tonight's free skating windup.

Miss Dijkstra, 22, performed brilliantly in the women's free skating phase Friday to cap a sweep of the distaff championship. Her spectacular leaps and spins drew an ovation from 3,500 spectators at the Grenoble Skating Palace.

A "SHOO-IN"

The blonde Dutch girl is considered a shoo-in for the Olympic gold medal at Innsbruck, Austria. She placed second to America's Carol Heiss in the 1960 games at Squaw Valley, Calif.

All nine judges awarded Miss Dijkstra first place in the overall standings. She was also a unanimous choice in the six compulsory figures preceding the free skating finale. She received 2,330.7 judging points. The compulsory phase represented 60 percent of the total evaluations.

Regine Heitzer of Austria was second with 21 ordinals—positional points—and 2,244 judging points. Nicole Hassler of France was third with 24 and 2,244.

SCORES 12 ORDINALS

In the men's compulsory figures Calmat had 12 ordinals to 19 for the West German skater and 28 for third-place Karol Divin of Czechoslovakia. Calmat received 1,173.6 judging points, Schnelldorfer, 1,158.1, and Divin, 1,143.7.

Divin was second to Jenkins at Squaw Valley and Schnelldorfer finished eighth. Neither Jenkins nor Miss Heiss will defend their Olympic titles, both having retired from amateur competition.

HAGGLER TO SPEAK IN N.C.

The Rev. Joseph H. Hagler Jr., pastor of the Shiloh Baptist Church, Carlisle, and chaplain of Adams County migrant workers, is to be the opening session speaker at a migrant health working conference, sponsored by the Department of Health Education, School of Public Health of the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, N.C., on Jan. 20-22, at the university.

The subject of Hagler's address at the Monday morning session will be "The East Coast Domestic Migrant Worker." Hagler will serve as recorder-reporter for one of the working groups.

Hagler was appointed last July as liaison to the Governor's Committee on Migrant Labor by Secretary of Labor and Industry William P. Young. Hagler's appointment to coordinate the migrant labor program for the Commonwealth followed five years of service as minister to migrants in Adams County under the sponsorship of the Pennsylvania Council of Churches. Recently two field service men, Leroy Hall and Marshall Washington, have been employed to assist in the liaison program which serves 700 growers, 1,000 camps, and 8,000 migrants throughout the state.

Hagler is the recent recipient of scholarship aid for further study in public relations. He enrolled in a master's-doctor's program in human relations at the University of Pennsylvania.

Smoking Drops In Teen-agers

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The percentage of teen-age smokers has dropped in recent years, says the head of a research firm.

It dropped from 36 per cent in 1958 to 29 per cent in 1963, Eugene Gilbert, president of the Gilbert Marketing Group of New York, said Friday night.

Gilbert attributed the reduction to efforts by schools and the education programs of the American Cancer Society.

He spoke at the society's eastern kickoff for its national fund-raising campaign.

Gilbert said a drop in teen-age smoking was noted in interviews his firm made with some 2,000 young people across the nation.

A study disclosed that a certain type of small travels 23 inches an hour.

EXPECT 27,000 TO ATTEND AFL ALL-STAR TILT

SAN DIEGO (AP)—American Football League greats of the Western and Eastern divisions meet Sunday in the third annual All-Star game at Balboa Stadium.

Kickoff is at 1:30 p.m. EST. and the game will be televised nationally. A crowd of 27,000 is expected.

The West All-Stars will be out to extend their perfect 2-0 mark in the series. They blitzed the East 49-27 in the first game and last year put on a second half rally to win 21-14.

Leading the Western squad at quarterback again will be Tobin Rote, the AFL's leading passer and field general. Rote led San Diego to the Western Division crown and had a near-perfect day Jan. 5 as the Chargers routed Boston 51-10 in the championship tilt.

HAS DAVIDSON

If Rote falters, West Coach Sid Gillman of San Diego will call on Oakland's Cotton Davidson. It was Davidson who threw for five touchdowns to clinch a win for the West in the first All-Star game. He was voted the game's outstanding player.

Besides Rote, Gillman will have his entire Charger backfield available, including flanker Lance Alworth, halfback Paul Lowe and fullback Keith Lincoln.

Another major threat in the West backfield will be Oakland's Clem Daniels, the league's leading rusher with 1,098 yards.

East Coach Mike Holovak of Boston won't lack big guns on offense.

SHARE 28 HONORS

Buffalo's Jack Kemp and Babe Parilli of Boston will share quarterbacking chore.

Kemp, although ranked third in AFL passing, was the top passing gainer with 2,914 yards in 1963.

The East ground game will rely mostly on fullback Cookie Gilchrist of Buffalo, fullback Larry Garrison of Boston and halfback Dick Mathis of New York. Gilchrist gained 979 yards during regular season play and was the AFL's second-ranked ball carrier.

In the air, the East's main threats will be Houston's Char Hennigan, Bake Turner of New York and Gino Capelletti of Boston.

China To Boost Morale Of Army

TOKYO (AP)—Communist China announced today it will launch a campaign to boost the morale of the Red Chinese army so that it will not fall into the "bourgeois way of life."

The broadcast did not indicate if the campaign resulted from new unrest among Red China's 2.5 million troops. The troops nearly revolted in 1960 against the policies of the Red regime.

Plastic Mulch Is Recommended

Strawberries ripen earlier, produce heavier yields when plastic mulch is used on growing areas, Clarence F. Hurr, Jersey Shore, R. 2, said at a meeting of the Pennsylvania Vegetable Growers' Association at the Farm Show in Harrisburg.

Hurr outlined his experiences in the use of plastic mulch, and offered a number of suggestions to strawberry growers. He said that plastic mulch enables growers to get ripe berries a week to 10 days earlier than from plants on open ground. He estimated yield should run 8,000 to 10,000 quarts per acre, but explained that the freeze last May 24 prevented an accurate check on the 1963 crop.

Today In Washington

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
WASHINGTON (AP)—In the news from Washington:

TAXES: The Senate Finance Committee hopes to wind up voting on the tax cut bill by Wednesday—setting the state for the possible start of floor debate the week of Jan. 26.

Senate leaders hope to get the bill through by the time Congress starts its Lincoln's birthday recess Feb. 11. Conferees to work out differences between the Senate bill and the version that has passed the House would come later.

ESTES TAXES: The Internal Revenue Service says Billie Sol Estes, the bankrupt Texas fertilizer king, owes Uncle Sam $18.2 million in back taxes and penalties.

Estes, facing 23 years in prison on after conviction on charges of mail fraud, swindling and conspiracy, is fighting the claim in the U.S. Tax Court.

EARNINGS: American factory workers earned an average of $102 a week in December—a new high.

The Labor Department reported Friday that average weekly earnings were up 91 cents from the $101.09 November figure.

DOCTOR DRAFT: Because of insufficient volunteers, the Defense Department has issued a draft call for 1,050 doctors for this summer.

"This call is necessary because insufficient numbers of 1963 medical school graduates volunteered for active duty immediately following internship," the department said Friday.

PARCEL RATES: Increased parcel post rates—averaging 13.1 per cent above present ones—are scheduled to go into effect April 1.

Postmaster General John A. Gronowski made the announcement Friday, a day after the Interstate Commerce Commission approved the increase long sought by postal authorities.

Based on 1962 volume, the new rates are figured to bring in an extra $75.4 million.

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP)—Dr. Arthur A. Allen, 78, a Cornell University faculty member from 1907-53, died Friday apparently of a heart attack in his home.

Mother

Police were told Mrs. Loeb had taken the children to a clinic in Broomall, Pa., to be treated for cerebral palsy on Thursday, but had failed to return to Midvale.

The father, John A. Loeb, said the two boys had been receiving treatments since birth, but lately only monthly treatments were needed. The girl was given treatments as a precautionary measure, he added.

Loeb said his wife had not been despondent over the illness of the children.

There are three other children in the family, ranging in age from 11 to 14.

Natives of Pennsylvania, the Loeb family came to Delaware in 1952. Mrs. Loeb was born in Douglassville and attended Pottstown High School.

Coincidentally, the Rishel family lives at 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue in York. The same address in Washington is the White House.

ZANZIBAR (AP)—The revolutionary regime today officially renamed this East African island nation "The Peoples Republic of Zanzibar."

(Censored dispatches from Zanzibar did not make clear whether adoption of the Communist-style name meant the revolutionary leaders intended to set up a Communist regime.)

A question period followed his address.

Dr. Goshen was introduced by Howard Musselman, vice president of the Adams County Mental Health Association and a member of the board of directors of the Brooklane Farms Mental Therapy Center at Lehigh, Pa.

He praised Dr. Goshen for "generous help as a consultant" as well as for his "contribution to the mental hygiene movement."

Miss Dorothy Curtis, county association president, invited guests to join the county association. The guests included William Phillips, representing the state Mental Health Association and Dr. David Whitcomb, medical director of the Brooklane Farms Center.

LANCASTER, Pa. (AP)—Harry Millisock, 35, found guilty of murdering a state social worker last Sept. 26, has been sentenced to 7 to 14 years in state prison.

The sentence was imposed Friday night by Lancaster County Court Judge B. Wissler after a jury of seven women and five men found Millisock guilty of second degree murder.

The Commonwealth charged Millisock with shooting Donald G. Zellner, 35, a case worker, after the victim ordered him to start paying rent on his four-room house.

Millisock, his wife, Martha, four children and two grandchildren were receiving public assistance.

CUMBERLAND, Md. (AP)—The body of T. Sgt. Melvin Wooten, 27, tall gunner on the B52 Strategic Air Command jet bomber that crashed near Cumberland Monday, was found Friday night.

Wooten, from Tohatchi, N.M., was the last member of the five-man crew to be accounted for. Maj. Robert L. Townley, 42, Gadsden, Ala., radar bombardier on the plane, died in the crash. The navigator, Maj. Robert L. Payne, 41, Tulsa, Okla., was found dead of exposure Wednesday after he had parachuted from the plane.

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—Communists shot down a U.S. Army escort helicopter in the Mekong Delta battle today and two American servicemen and a British colonel aboard it were reported missing and feared dead.

BATAVIA, N.Y. (AP)—Four children of a 34-year-old mother, who State Police said abandoned three of them on the State Thruway, have been turned over to authorities in Ohio, their home state.

Judge Philip J. Weiss of Genesee County Family Court Friday ordered the children placed in the custody of the Juvenile Court of Cuyahoga County, Ohio, after Mrs. Jo Ann Goodwin, of Brecksville, Ohio, failed to appear in court.

Mrs. Goodwin was charged with neglect, a noncriminal offense.

TACOMA, Wash. (AP)—"I'd like to hear a brass band," said Mrs. Ella Gants when a reporter asked her what she wanted for her 100th birthday.

So Friday morning, on her birthday, the 4th Division band from nearby Ft. Lewis appeared on the lawn of the nursing home where Mrs. Gants lives.

"I'll remember you in my prayers," Mrs. Gant told Maj. Gen. Claire E. Hutchin, the fort's commander.

Today's Talk

SINCERITY

Anyone of us is erratic enough at times, God knows. But there is an element in all genuine characters that stands out above everything else and which really is the gauge to every act and thought of a person, and that element is sincerity.

It is always difficult to forgive an insincere person. Even jokers and humorists cannot disguise their real selves as they utter mirth in words or pictures. In olden times they used to repair valuable vases with wax, so that when one was in need of repair, but was whole and perfect they called it sincere. The Latin word derivation means "without wax," sincere, therefore whole.

So it has come about that we speak of sincere persons as whole and genuine. Thus the flatterer, the loud talker — just for the sake of talking — the word painter of untruths, for the fun of it, each can be counted upon to be insincere.

What a friend to have — the sincere one! Dependable, honest, comfortable, clean of mind, gentle of nature — strong of heart, and never failing. Unfortunately, he has to be hunted out, but rare is the find. The sincere salesman doesn't have to do much talking. His very look, his open countenance, his manner of statement, all suggest his sincerity.

In contact with an insincere person you can almost see that insincerity coming toward you — like the gathering of a cloud out of a clear sky. The eye tells you, the twist of the mouth, or the turn of the head. Dozens of signs label such a person, as they do the sincere one — but of such a different case — in the latter case.

The self-seeking politician is usually plastered up with labels of insincerity, but the patriot, who gives his all for freedom — offering up his life for others — is all sincerity.

Faith is the common heritage of us all, but sincerity is something that we extract from the soul and make evident in every fine act of our lives. Sincerity bathes the entire mental and spiritual life of a human being and puts it clean before the world.

FOLLOWED

I once met a man who said to me;

"I'm being followed about the town,

Wherever I go that face I see

Dodging my footsteps up and down,

Someone has hired him just to know

All that I do and where I go.

"Somebody watches me night and day!

Watchful over I'm forced to be,

I am afraid of what he might say,

I am afraid of what he might see.

I must be careful in all I do

I can't get out of that fellow's view."

Little I thought of his story then.

It was a tale I had heard before.

Heard it oft from the lips of men

Who had been shadowed from door to door.

But of us all now I'm sure it's true,

Day and night we are followed,

too.

I am being followed, my girl and boy

Follow my footsteps where'er

I go,

Not as detectives that men

employ

Still all my best and my worst

they know,

Night and day are they following

me,

And I'm afraid of what they might see.

Warriors Rout Northern
82-31 For 8th Straight
Blue Mountain Triumph

All 12 players employed by Coach Merrill Eckhart scored as the unbeaten Gettysburg High School basketball squad routed Northern at Dillsburg 82-31 Friday evening for their eighth successive Blue Mountain League victory and ninth overall.

The Warriors have now clinched at least a tie for the first half title and face their biggest assignment next Tuesday at Biglerville. The Cannons are one game back of Gettysburg and a Cannon win would deadlock the teams for first place requiring a playoff.

It was strictly no contest as Dick Finkboner, Kit Richardson and Bob Deitz led a blistering attack in the first period for a 24-5 lead. A pair of goals by Finkboner and one by Richardson gave the Warriors a 6-0 lead in the early moments and they pulled steadily away. After a goal by Rick Stevens and foul by Don Reinhard for the Polar Bears, the Warriors reeled off 11 straight points. Just before the quarter ended Stevens netted the second Northern goal.

SCORING SLOWS

Scoring tapered off considerably in the second round as Gettysburg led 36-19 at half time. Rad Schultz and Richardson each netted four points, and Finkboner and Deitz a goal each. Stevens dropped through eight of his team's output.

The game became a complete rout in the third quarter when Gettysburg held a 22-3 edge, the defense limiting the Bears to a single goal from the field by Stevens.

Reserves played throughout the remaining minutes and easily maintained command.

Richardson enjoyed one of his best evenings with 21 points while Finkboner added 17 and Deitz 11. Stevens netted 13 for the Bears.

JAYVEES WIN
Earl Little's reserves piled up a 30-16 lead in the first half and breezed to a 41-27 decision in the preliminary for their sixth victory in eight starts. Bob Teeter and Charley Raffensperger each contributed 11 tallies.

Delone Freshmen
Defeated By York

Delone Catholic's Freshman team dropped a 46-34 decision to the York Catholic Freshmen on Friday in York. The setback was the third of the season for Bucky Kempton's cagers against two wins. York led throughout the game and only in the last period did Delone show any offensive.

Tom Lynch led all scorers with 11 points while York's Tim Bell was close behind with 10.

Delone's next Freshman encounter is on January 28 in Carlisle against Carlisle's Junior High.

WARRIORS CUT
LAKERS' LEAD
FRIDAY NIGHT

BOSTON (AP)—The Boston Celtics are keeping ahead of Cincinnati in the Eastern Division, but watch out Los Angeles for those San Francisco Warriors in the Western Division.

The Celtics turned back the Lakers for the fourth time in six attempts this season, posting a 99-79 decision in the finale of a National Basketball Association twinbill at Boston Garden Friday night.

Wilt Chamberlain, meanwhile, was scoring 36 points in a 112-91 San Francisco triumph at Philadelphia. The Warriors' sixth straight victory, shaved Los Angeles' lead to 2½ games.

Winter Care Of Farm Machines Can Save Farmers Money, Time; Need Cover; Rust Protection

THOMAS E. PIPER
Adams County Farm Agent

Farmers who spend a few hours during these winter months will save many spring headaches and protect the thousands of dollars they have invested in farm machines.

Thomas E. Piper

On most farms, a few hours of winter work on each machine reduces damage from exposure to winter elements. Place the more expensive machines, such as hay balers, combines, cornpickers, self-propelled windrowers and grain drills in a machine shed or under roof.

Machines that spread or deposit fertilizer such as corn planters, grain drills, seeders and fertilizer spreaders are subject to heavy rust damage. Thoroughly clean such machines, then apply a spray type rust preventative. Squirt light oil on exposed bolt threads.

INCREASE LIFE SPAN
Here are some suggestions for increasing the life span of farm machinery.

Loosen V-belts. This removes tension so belts will not harden and crack. Keep the weight off rubber tires by jacking up each wheel to set the machine solidly on blocks. Keep tires inflated to normal recommended pressures at all times. Roller and link chains should be removed, rinsed in kerosene, dipped in oil and stored in a dry place. Machines that operate in the soil such as plows, cultivators and disks should be thoroughly cleaned and a rust preventative sprayed on all the polished surfaces.

For winter storage or use, it's important to lubricate all bearings and fittings, drain oil cases, refill with new oil and repack wheel bearings with new grease. Replace worn or damaged parts. During the winter months when you have time, you will save money by taking care of farm machinery.

Make plans now to attend the extension meeting on farm machinery which will be held in the farm shop of Gettysburg High School on Wednesday, February 28.

WOOD HARVEST
You can see the trees better with no leaves to get in the way, you can skid logs easier on ice and snow, and other work is usually not as pressing during winter.

Most woodlot owners have some valuable products which should be harvested. Trees are like other crops because they become ripe, crowded and either injured or deformed and need improvement.

If you want to get the very most from your woodlot, not only this winter, but 10 years from now, your best bet is to plan your lumber harvest right from the start. About the worst thing to do is say "Yes" to an outside operator who offers you a hundred dollars for the lumber on the stump in your woodlot. It's really a matter of goals. If you're like most woodlot owners, you take pride in viewing your woodlot and being able to say it's just about the best wood lot you've ever seen. And the other goal is to carry that quality on for the next 10 years, and even indefinitely.

LOCATE MARKET

There are two ways to aim for a good woodlot, and get a decent income from what you take away. Always look the market over ahead of time. If you cut your trees and then look for a market and can't find one for the type of wood you have to sell, you're in trouble!

Another way is to have any custom work done under contract. With a contract you're sure of what you're selling and the buyer knows what's in it for him.

Now we're ready to begin sawing. Best idea is to divide your woodlot into several sections, and plan on improving just one section this year, and the next year, and so on. Thin out the weed trees for firewood or charcoal. Then cut the big, mature trees for lumber. That's all there is to it.

By the way, if you think you'll have any trouble in knowing which trees to cut and which to leave, get in touch with your district forester. Your district forester's job is to help you realize the most from any lumber you have ready to market.

CONTROL CATTLE LICE

Several cattle herds in the state have some lice. Lice reduce beef gains or cut milk production if left unchecked to build up in a herd.

A serious infestation of lice adds to the stress conditions caused by winter weather.

Lice live on the animal during the summer but don't start increasing until fall and early winter. Uncontrolled, they can build up large numbers fast in December to become a real problem in January and February. They can lower the vitality of an animal during the coldest part of the winter when good health is crucial.

For controlling lice in dairy cattle, we recommend Clodrin, a new chemical, or the old standby rotenone. Both are approved for milking cows and for calves four months or older when applied properly. Lindane in a one per cent dust form may be used for lice control on dairy cattle but should not be used more than twice each year.

For beef cattle, Co-Ral, lindane, malathion, methoxychlor or Ronnel are recommended. Spray one to two gallons per animal. Thorough head-to-tail coverage is important.

For more details on lice control, stop at the county extension office.

SOYBEAN IS GOOD PROFIT CROP IN PA.

Soybeans can be a good cash crop in Pennsylvania according to Clarence S. Bryner, extension agronomist at the Pennsylvania State University. Bryner spoke at a meeting of the Pennsylvania Crop Improvement Association in the Farm Show building at Harrisburg.

Demand has increased during the past 10 years and prices have been favorable. While many states have increased grain soybean acreage, Pennsylvania acreage has decreased. In 1963 only 6,000 acres were harvested for grain. Pennsylvania is in a favorable position for the export trade because of shipping facilities at Philadelphia. There are, however, no soybean processing plants in the state.

HAVE PROPER SOILS

Pennsylvania has the proper soils, and there is sufficient production know-how to produce 35 to 45 bushels per acre on many of our farms. A number of high yielding varieties are available.

Yields obtained in combine trials last year averaged 25 to 32 bushels in Lehigh County and 18 to 27 bushels in Lancaster County. Dry weather and fall frost affected both trials. Yields in Lancaster County averaged 28 to 46 bushels and in Crawford County 32 to 41 bushels per acre.

A farmer can estimate his potential soybean grain yield by taking one-third of his average corn yield (shelled corn basis). For example: a farmer who averages around 90 bushels shelled corn, 100 bushels of ears, per acre can expect at least 30 bushels of soybeans, Bryner said.

POULTRYMEN CAN CUT COST

"Controlled environment" in windowless, insulated and mechanically ventilated houses is producing broilers at 14 cents less per pound than those produced in conventional surroundings, the Pennsylvania Poultry Federation was told at its annual meeting in Harrisburg during Farm Show Week.

Ray Lloyd, extension poultryman from the University of Delaware was one of a number of experts who spoke at the federation meeting on various phases of poultry management.

Results of experiences in "improved environment to induce faster weight gains and more efficient feed conversion" has led to "the greatest expansion in broiler housing on the Delmarva Peninsula since 1923," Lloyd said. He said that more than 100 new broiler houses with a total capacity of 1½ to 2 million birds were constructed during the last year.

Use of controlled environment and off-season hatching have put new emphasis on the importance of lighting programs for poultry, John V. Shutze, extension poultryman for Pennsylvania State University said in his talk to the group.

"This is one area," he said, "where poultrymen see results from their management. Many lighting schedules have been developed to alter or regulate the physiological processes of birds for better economic return. Schedules should depend on the type of housing and season when birds are hatched. Improper lighting may result in damaged vision, nervous disorders and lowered egg production, especially with winter hatched pullets."

ADVERTISE IN THE TIMES

Urges Increased Food Inspection

Pointing to a few examples of food contamination which has caused serious concern for many producers and processors of food products, Julius F. Bauerman, extension food technologist at Penn State University, urged even greater policing and inspection of foods and food additives. Bauerman was the speaker at a meeting of poultrymen at the Farm Show.

Bauerman asserted that one oversight or small error can put an entire industry in jeopardy, even though our products are of the highest quality possible.

Bauerman's point was that great numbers of inspections and stronger police action will nip in the bud any operations that do not follow the industry's quality and safety standards.

Urges Honey Pack For Foreign Use

The foreign honey market poses a number of unusual problems for U. S. producers, John A. Root, of Medina, O., told members of the Pennsylvania State Beekeepers Association at Harrisburg.

Speaking at the banquet that climaxed the association's 61st annual meeting, Root said the container is an important factor in marketing honey abroad.

German buyers, he said, prefer darker honey but like it in a transparent container so they can see what they are getting. Londoners also like darker honey and prefer it in old-fashioned jars. They do not seem to like plastic squeeze bottles that have become popular here, Root said. Many English buyers associate this type of container with soap products, he explained.

Root visited international food fairs at London and Munich recently as a guest of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

He also discussed the importance of the beeswax industry, pointing out that it has an annual value in excess of $2,000,000 to beekeepers. Largest user of beeswax in the U. S., he said, is the cosmetic industry. He also described in detail production of beeswax candles.

The first chemical process ever discovered by man probably was heating wood to convert it into carbon or charcoal. Charcoal fuel, burning without flame or smoke, has twice the heating power of wood.

AGRIBUSINESS NEEDS MORE TRAINED MEN

State Agriculture Secretary Leiland H. Bull urged members of the Society of Farm Women of Pennsylvania to "do everything possible to encourage young people to stay in agribusiness, if not on the farm" in his talk to the group at its annual convention held during Farm Show week in Harrisburg.

Agribusiness, he said, can use "twice as many trained persons as we now have." This need was emphasized, Secretary Bull declared by the experience of 25 recent graduates of the College of Agriculture at Penn State who had "a choice of almost 300 job offers."

He urged members to help focus attention on the relationship of the high productivity of our farmers to the sales volume of other businesses. "Consumers spend only 19 cents of each dollar for food these days," Secretary Bull pointed out, "leaving 81 cents that can be spent for other goods and services."

ELECT OFFICERS

Mrs. Elmo Mentzer, 907 W. Louthier St., Carlisle, was elected to a three-year term as president succeeding Mrs. Edward Boyd, Stoytsov. R. 3. Mrs. W. F. Dummer, Thomasville R. 1, was elected first vice president, and Mrs. Kenneth Staver, Palmyra R. D., second vice president.

Directors elected were Mrs. James Boswell, Collegeville R. 1; Mrs. Virgil Duppestadt, Stoytsov R. 3; Mrs. Henry Grove, Shippenburg R. D., and Mrs. Lee S. Richards, McConnellsburg.

The Society of Farm Women was organized October 14, 1914, at the Holland Farms of Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Black, Garrett, Somerset County. Twenty women living in Brothers Valley and Summit Twp. became the charter members of this organization. Four of these women are still living. Mrs. Black, founder of the society, was state president until 1925.

HAS 3,500 MEMBERS

Since its beginning of one society with 20 members, the organization has grown and prospered. Today it has 145 societies in 18 counties with a total membership of about 3,500.

The first 10 counties organized were in this order: Somerset, Cambria, Lancaster, Greene, Washington, Dauphin, York, Cumberland, Berks and Montgomery. Counties organized during the last five years were Adams and Fulton. Other counties with organized groups include Chester, Franklin, Huntingdon, Indiana, Lebanon and Wyoming.

FARM CALENDAR

Save Nitrogen — To prevent loss of nitrogen in manure, Wayne Hinsh, Penn State extension agronomist, advises applying superphosphate at the rate of two pounds per cow per day in the stable gutter, or immediately before or after bedding in loafing or feeding pens.

Vegetable Conference — A vegetable conference will be held from January 27 to 29 at the Pennsylvania State University.

The conference is sponsored by the Pennsylvania Vegetable Growers' Association and the Pennsylvania Cannery's Association in cooperation with the Department of Horticulture and the Agricultural Extension Service at the Pennsylvania State University. As a part of the Penn State educational program, it is open to any interested person who wishes to register.

Woodlot Safety — E. P. Farland, extension forester at Penn State, urges farmers to be extra careful to prevent injury while working in farm woodlots this winter. Be sure axe handles are strong and solidly mounted; shut off the motor of the power chain saw when filling with gas, be careful with footing and beware of falling trees.

Batteries Have Extra Lead in Winter — It is important to have batteries in tractors, trucks and autos fully charged, since winter puts an extra load on them, says Penn State extension agricultural engineers.

Hunger Is Great Danger To World

Hunger is a greater danger to the world than the atom bomb, Captain Emeritus Hal Blackburn of Trans World Airlines told members of the Pennsylvania Dairywomen's Association. Speaking at the association's annual banquet at the Penn Harris Hotel, Harrisburg, Captain Blackburn cited a recent U. S. Department of Agriculture study indicating, he said, "that in the foreseeable future, world famine looms as a prospect that can be more serious than the threat of nuclear war."

It emphasizes, he said, "the limitless needs for transportation, the indispensable means by which an economy holds itself together." Modern transportation, he added, enables people to build good will and friendship by the greatly increased exchange of ideas, cultures and goods between states and nations.

If you are planning to stuff pork chops, and they make a fine company dish, see that they are 1½ inches thick so that you can cut through the middle of each to form a pocket.

Highlights Of Farm Show

HARRISBURG (AP) — Open classes in beef cattle competition will be eliminated from the 1965 State Farm Show to return the emphasis to the steers entered by 4-H club youngsters.

Richard Rishel, 16, of York, who won the 4-H and open short-horn championships and lost out to his brother, William, 19, for the grand championships, was judged Friday the 4-H champion baby beef showman of the 1964 show.

Raymond Schrader of Nicholas R. 2, Bradford County, was first in the 4-H lamb fitting and 4-H sheep blocking and grooming contests.

Concessionaires estimate that farm show visitors ate their way through 40 miles of buns and rolls this year. That's what it took to serve an estimated 200,000 hot dogs, 135,000 hamburgers and 50,000 hoagies at the food stands.

Approximately 150 tons of coal — a carload a day — were used to heat the vast farm show buildings for the 1964 exposition.

Farm show officials announced that the 1964 exposition will be held next Jan. 11-15.

A new organization was formed at the show — the Pennsylvania State Maple Producers' Council.

Edward Curtis, Honesdale R. 3, Wayne County, was elected president. Other officers: Vice president, N. E. Beabes, Honesdale, R. 1, Somerset County; Secretary-treasurer, Robert McConnell, Coudersport, Potter County; national delegate, George Keim, West Salisbury, Somerset County; alternate delegate, Edward Curtis.

If that gravy, made from the drippings from roast meat or poultry, doesn't have enough flavor, you may want to add a touch of soy sauce.

A Bit Of History About Early Settlers

By B. F. M. MacPHERSON

JOHN (3) KERR
The historical and genealogical study of the Kerr family, early settlers in the Manor of the Masque (Maske), is continued at this time.

John (3) Kerr, the third son of John (2) and Martha (Darby) Kerr, was born in 1744. He is mentioned in his father's will, which was probated in 1759, and died in 1772 — in the 28th year of his age. It is not known whether or not John (3) Kerr married — but if he did so nothing is known pertaining to his wife. It is quite possible, since he died a comparatively young man, that his widow, if such a person existed, remarried and was thus lost to Kerr family records.

IN FAMILY PLOT

John (3) Kerr is buried in the Kerr family plot in the Lower Marsh Creek Presbyterian graveyard and the inscription from the marker at his grave reads as follows:—

20. "Here lies the Body — of John Kerr — who departed his life — December 28th, 1772."

Samuel (3) Kerr, the fourth son of John (2) and Martha (Darby) Kerr, was born October 13, 1750, and died October 18, 1818. He married Margaret McDowell.

The old home of the pioneer McDowells was on Willowby's Run, this County. The tract of land on which they settled was included in the Manor of the Masque. After the War of the American Revolution the McDowells "moved out," along with many others, to new and ever-beckoning lands to the west and south.

It is interesting to note that during the Revolution Samuel (3) Kerr served as a private in the company of Captain Charles Taggart, of the Continental Line — (Pennsylvania Archives, Fifth Series, Volume 5, page 114; also Volume 4, page 601).

FORT IS BUILT

In what is now Fulton County, Pennsylvania, near the present town of McConnellsburg, a fort was built during the Indian Wars — as a protection against the savages. Samuel (3) and Margaret (McDowell) Kerr left the Manor of the Masque and settled on a tract of land very near this fortification. At that time the Indians were still active and the fort played an important part in preserving the settlements on the frontier. A daughter of Samuel (3) and Margaret Kerr told her descendants, in later years, of her fright, when an alarm went out at night and the family fled to the fort for safety.

Margaret (McDowell), the wife of Samuel (3) Kerr, died October 6, 1830, at the age of 83 years and both she and her husband are buried in the Big Spring Cove (Presbyterian) burying ground, near McConnellsburg, Fulton County, Pa. The old graveyard is still in existence and the Kerr graves can be seen to this day. The markers at their graves are in place. This is a most interesting burying ground — historically and genealogically speaking, and well repays a visit by the researcher.

Samuel (3) and Margaret

(McDowell) Kerr were the parents of the following children:—

1. Margaret (4) Kerr — married, on April 18, 1815, to Nathaniel Pettit.

2. Isabella (4) Kerr — married, on May 7, 1818, to Charles Pettit. In this case the bridegroom was probably a brother-in-law of the bride's sister, Margaret (Kerr) Pettit.

3. Rebecca (4) Kerr — nothing is known pertaining to this daughter.

4. George (4) Kerr — Very little is known pertaining to the eldest son of Samuel (3) and Margaret Kerr. He was married and the father of two children but the name of his wife is unknown. The children were John (5) and Mary (5) Kerr.

According to family tradition George (4) Kerr emigrated to Ohio and died there.

5. Thomas (4) Kerr — born 1792 — died May 13, 1862 — married Ann Maria (4) Flemming, his cousin, on April 18, 1830. They were the parents of four daughters. Ann Maria (Flemming) Kerr died November 3, 1874, in the seventy-second year of her age. Thomas (4) Kerr served in the War of 1812-14.

6. Martha (4) Kerr — married Michael Downes and, in due course of time, became the mother of some 13 children.

7. Jane (4) Kerr — born January 9, 1793 — died August 8, 1867 — married William McClean Scott. They were the parents of five children and quite a few of their descendants still live in Adams County, Pennsylvania.

SECOND WIFE

William McClean and Jane (4) Kerr Scott are buried in the Lower Marsh Creek Presbyterian graveyard and the inscriptions from the markers at their graves were given in an earlier column on the Kerr family.

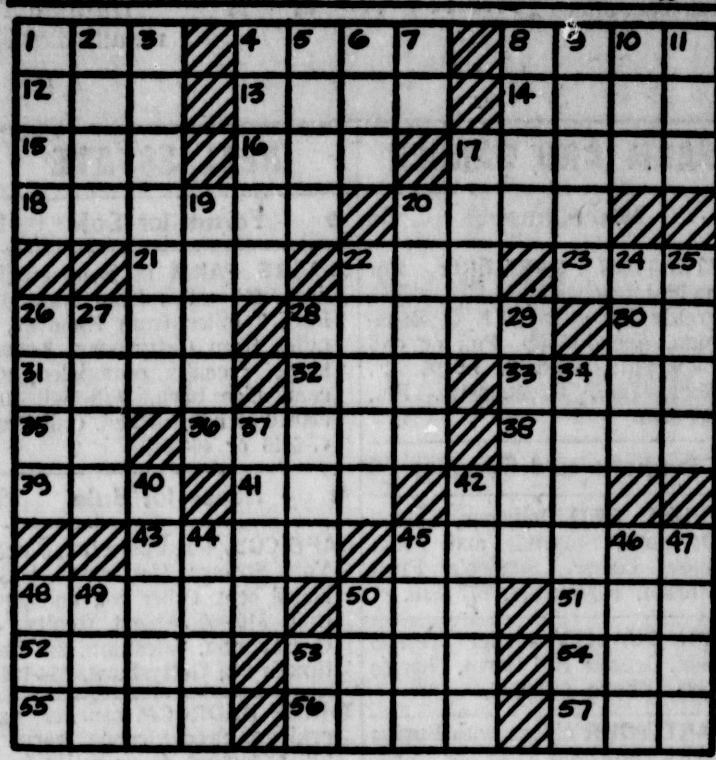

8. Mary or Polly (4) Kerr — married Thomas Douglass of She was his second wife the first being Mary (Stewart) Cunningham, the widow of David Cunningham, of what is now Adams County, Pennsylvania.

9. Elizabeth (4) Kerr — born 1793 — died July 5, 1826. This daughter died unmarried and is buried with her parents in the Big Spring Cove (Presbyterian) Graveyard in Fulton County.

10. Samuel (4) Kerr — the youngest son of his parents was born July 15, 1796, and died August 20, 1854. He was married, on February 15, 1842, to Mary Holmes Blair of Licking Creek, Pa. They were the parents of seven children. After the death of her first husband, Mary (Blair) Kerr, was married, for the second time, to Fedda Fixen.

James (3) Kerr, the fifth son of John (2) and Martha (Darby) Kerr, was born in 1752 and died in 1825. He was married to Agnes Carrick and emigrated, in 1802, to Short Creek, Harrison County, Ohio. They were the parents of eight children. Agnes (Carrick) Kerr, the wife of James (3) Kerr, died in 1836 and both she and her husband are buried in Beech Springs Presbyterian Church.

Taneytown

MRS. FLORA LEISTER
TANEYTOWN—Charles I. Joy, district governor, District 22W, Lions International, addressed the Lions Club Tuesday night at its dinner meeting at Taney Inn. Dr. Frank Wagny, president, presided.

Group singing was in charge of Dr. Paul Roxin and Delmar Riffe.

The following awards were made:

Key award, Donald Baker; five-year perfect attendance award, Donald Baker; 15-year perfect attendance award, Homer Y. Myers; 10-year Old Monarch award to Rev. Robert Johnson and Raymond Baker; 15-year Old Monarch award to Homer Y. Myers, Harry I. Reindollar, Raymond J. Perry, Singleton Remsburg, Norman Sauble and Kenneth Shorb; 15-year Charter awards: Murray Baumgardner, Curtis Bowers, Harry Dougherty Sr., Charles Eckard, Theodore Fair, Robert Feaser, Merwyn C. Fuss, Wilbert Hess, Merle Otter and Delmar Riffe.

Raymond Baker, chairman of health and welfare committee, reported baskets of food, clothing and toys were distributed to 28 families at Christmastime.

The club will meet January 28 with the Jaycee Club. Murray Baumgardner is chairman of the program.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP)—Army troops guarded major public utility installations today after a general strike—including unprecedented walk-outs by federal employees—continued to spread in Brazil.

Troops were rushed to the poverty-stricken northeast region Thursday after 12 persons were killed in a gun battle when laborers tried to take over a mill.

In most cases, the strikers are demanding pay hikes to counter Brazil's chaotic economic crisis.

PANMUNJOM, Korea (AP)—Communist North Korea today returned the body of a South Korean air force captain whose F86D Sabre jet fighter was shot down by Red gunfire north of this truce village last Tuesday.

yard, Harrison County, Ohio. Thomas (3) Kerr, the sixth son of John (2) and Martha (Darby) Kerr, was born in 1755 and died in 1825.

The notes on the Kerr family, of this county and points south and west will be continued next week.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Comedian Jerry Lewis has been sued for $1 million by a writer accusing him of slander and libel.

The writer, Lor Ann Land, contended in the suit filed in Superior Court at Los Angeles that Lewis made slanderous statements which appeared in Hedda Hopper's syndicated column Jan. 29, 1963.

Miss Land claimed Lewis told Miss Hopper she had sued him many times. She said she has sued him only once, last Jan. 21 on charges of plagiarism and breach of contract.

STATES SEEK STOP SMOKING LEGISLATION

NEW YORK (AP)—The U.S. surgeon general's report on the smoking-health controversy inspired some state and local government bodies to consider anticigarette action officially.

In California, the Los Angeles county board of supervisors, noting that the county hospitals treated 493 cases of lung cancer last year, asked for a report on steps necessary to outlaw cigarette sales in the hospitals.

The New York State Senate established a special committee to determine whether the surgeon general's report labeling cigarette smoking a major health hazard called for state action.

The Massachusetts Legislature has received bills to require warning labels on cigarette packages and to raise the age ban on cigarette sales from 18 to 21.

The Massachusetts Department of Public Health has ordered a halt to the sale of cigarettes at all state-operated hospitals.

TO ESTABLISH CLINICS
A spokesman said the department will set up clinics in various parts of the state to help volunteer groups stop smoking and it will establish what it calls a "Teen Council" to devise an effective program to halt smoking among teen-agers.

The Jamesburg (N.J.) Borough voted unanimously to instruct the police department to enforce an 81-year-old New Jersey law prohibiting cigarette sales to anyone under 16.

Many states forbid tobacco sales to minors. Illinois, since June 3, 1967, has had a law forbidding anyone to manufacture, sell or give away cigarettes under penalty of $100 fine and 30 days in jail. It is not enforced.

The city council of Eastland, first-reading passage to an ordinance setting maximum penalty of $1,000 fine and three years in jail for smoking or selling cigarettes.

The ordinance, city officials admit, would itself be illegal because Texas state statutes set a top sentence of a $200 fine, and no jail, for violation of municipal laws.

But Mayor Don Pierson said the ordinance focused "the community's attention on the serious problem of smoking and its relation to cancer."

Raymond Massey Is No Snob About TV; Dr. Kildare's Strongest Booster

Raymond Massey, who as Dr. Gillespie bosses young Dr. Kildare around in the Thursday night NBC series, but guardedly thinks well of him, in real life is much more lavish in his praise of the young star, Richard Chamberlain. Producers welcomed Massey's advice when the series was cast and Chamberlain got his enthusiastic vote.

By RUTH E. THOMPSON
Dr. Gillespie — as you can see for yourself any Thursday night at 8:30 on NBC — is Dr. Kildare's strongest booster.

But Kildare's portrayer, Richard Chamberlain, has it even better, though. Because: Raymond Massey, long one of the theater and moviedom's most esteemed stars, is a real-life Chamberlain booster . . . and without any of that irascibility associated with the character of Gillespie.

In fact just talking to Raymond Massey, surprisingly smoothed off for me a lot of what would be an average day's sharp edges. Aside from his great portrayal of Abraham Lincoln I'd apparently seen him in so many thorny roles that I wasn't quite prepared for the gentle humorous man who talks modestly of his own achievements, gratefully of John Drew who gave him early career advice, amusingly of his excursions to the supermarket, and glowingly of television as a medium.

GOOD ENTERTAINMENT
"Entertainment you know is more than amusement. It must stimulate the imagination; and television offers a great deal of good entertainment. I have the highest regard for our own writers and their creativity . . . and remember they have to do an original each week. Further, there are no sacred cows any more so the subject range is wide."

I caught up with him during a brief — and busy — flying visit to New York. "No, I don't mind it. Did a lot of one-night stands in my time."

The real-life Massey-Chamberlain seniority situation parallels their fictional status.

Massey was hired first. In addition to his fame as an actor he also has had considerable experience as a director, producer — and in recent years — playwright.

APPROVES CASTING
And, exploding a myth about closed minds, the producers welcomed and followed his suggestions. "Naturally if I was going into it, I wanted the series to be a success so I insisted on the right to approve the casting of the Kildare role. And Dick (he smiles in the same proud-father way I noticed later when he spoke of his own children) I knew was right."

"And incidentally, it's wonderful to see how much he has grown in the past two years."

(Other sources say that Chamberlain feels much of his growth can be attributed to working with an actor of Massey's stature.) Then Massey added, "And I must say I enjoy nursing my own part along and developing it."

But looking back three years again: After Dick's casting, "I had one more request, which was acceded to, that I become anchorman . . . for it is the younger man who must carry the series."

REAL FIREWORKS

"Of course, in the final analysis the real fireworks go to the guest stars, which is also as it should be. In fact, once I was more than a little envious when a role so juicy came along I'd have tried for it if I hadn't already been on the series. Dean Jagger who played it, commiserated pleasantly with me. That was before he got into his own series." (As the principal on "Mr. Novak" — also NBC and also doing very well.)

TRIED BUSINESS

Canadian-born Massey got bitten by the theater bug under unusual circumstances. Serving as an officer in Siberia in World War I he was asked to stage a minstrel show to raise troop morale. And though he thereafter "went down to Oxford for a couple of years," then back to Canada, show business was really in his system.

He tried his hand at the family's 75-year old farm machinery manufacturing business. It didn't take. "One night, on impulse, I went backstage and introduced myself to John Drew who was playing in Toronto and asked his advice about how to get started on Broadway."

"I was pretty crushed when he said, 'You'll be better off not to try Broadway. With your Canadian accent, go to England. There your chances will be better because you'll sound American and there's a fashion for them.'"

If his father was disappointed, he raised no objections, neither did his brother, Vincent (later destined to be for seven years the governor general of Canada).

THEATER BOOMING

The London theater at the brink of the 1920's was indeed booming . . . but young Raymond Massey met 28 no's at stage doors, before the 29th production he visited (a play by America's Eugene O'Neill) hired him. "I worked steadily thereafter, acted in 16 plays in three years, stage-managed for Noel Coward and learned acting by working with great directors. They taught me to listen, that acting is teamwork. Too often today actors are too subjective, just waiting for their own turns."

His youngest son, Dan, and

Winter Olympics Telecast On ABC

Beginning Wednesday (January 29) "a good deal of the action at the Winter Olympics in Innsbruck, Austria, will be seen on American TV screens the same day," states ABC which has exclusive rights to full coverage of the IX Winter Olympic Games.

Timing will be the decisive factor on same day coverage. The network is planning hour long prime-time coverage from January 29 through February 8, with the schedule expanding to two hours on Saturday, February 1; Sunday, February 2, and Saturday, February 8. Then it expands again — to three hours — on the closing day, February 9.

There will also be a half-hour wrapup on February 10.

Fifty ABC cameras and a staff of a hundred have already checked into picturesque Innsbruck with Jim McKay, Curt Gowdy and Jim Simpson heading the commentators staff. Olympic experts (including lovely Carol Heiss, 1960 figure skating gold medal winner) will also be on hand.

DON'T CALL ME HENRY!

Affable as well as practical, Harry Morgan of "The Richard Boone Show," and "Pete and Gladys" doesn't use his real name which is Henry... to avoid confusion with humorist-panellist Henry Morgan, now a regular on the new topical satire "That Was The Week That Was."

Raymond Massey

His daughter, Anna, are now making names for themselves in the theater. His eldest son, Geoffrey is an architect in Vancouver.

Does Mr. M. miss touring? "Well no, but I did go out a few years back with the late Tyrone Power in 'John Brown's Body.' And yes, I loved it.

"But it's nice at home, too. (Home now is Beverly Hills. He became a naturalized American in 1944.) Then too, Bongo (the German shepherd given him by Gregory Peck) and I still walk an hour a day. However, where we used to do six miles Bongo at 14 now does only three."

DOES SHOPPING

With an inconsistency that delights nobody more than himself, Raymond Massey drives a Rolls Royce but does the family shopping at a supermarket "Better Values." And "of course with a list; my wife wouldn't turn me loose without one." Seems he runs into all sorts of nice people; fellow performers like Ernest Borgnine and viewers who comment thoughtfully on the Dr. Kildare series. "Naturally, I'm saving my trading stamps. Have nearly 60 books!"

And what does he do when asked for advice? "If it's medical, I say ask your doctor, I'm an actor." And if it's an actor? "I hope sincerely I am as kind and thoughtful as John Drew — then quite elderly and nearly blind — was to me."

TWA Holds Items Found On Planes

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Have you lost anything lately?

Well, if you have flown on an airline, you've probably left it aboard the plane.

In the lost and found room at general offices of TWA at Kansas City there is an odd assortment of merchandise — items which indicate that the traveling public is most forgetful.

Jim Dolin, supervisor of the lost and found department, is no longer surprised at what might turn up. He's had practically everything from false teeth to tennis racquets. Once a passenger left an airplane propeller aboard.

There is a collection of rings, watches, eyeglasses (an average of 700 pairs a year), cameras (150 per year), radios, binoculars and handbags packed with clothing and toiletries.

Not long ago, a woman, probably wishing to travel in comfort rather than style, left her girdle in the pocket on back of the seat in front of her.

Each year dozens of women's slips and other underclothing, hundreds of men's hats, golf clubs, fishing rods, fur stoles and jackets, and items of food are left in the passenger compartments of the planes. Once, two cardboard boxes were found on a plane after a flight. One contained cartons of milk and the other dozens of bars of soap. One passenger left a five-foot lacrosse stick — another, a four-foot canoe paddle.

One day another large cloth bag was turned in to Dolin. It was crammed with baby diapers all used. "That item," said Dolin, "stayed in the room about two minutes."

If Ray Walston took his roles too seriously, he'd have a hard time keeping his feet on the ground. He successfully played the Devil in the Broadway and movie versions of "Damn Yankees" and now he's an earth-stranded Martian on a weekly CBS series.

Hungry Moose Problem For Anchorage Residents

By JACK HEWINS
Associated Press Sports Writer
ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)

— Alaskans are very fond of moose as seen through rifle sights or as steak on the table but not in the back yard, on the highway, on the railroad tracks or galloping off with the Monday morning wash.

"The moose is Alaska's most important game animal," says Loren Croxton, regional game supervisor here for the State Department of Fish and Game.

"But he can be a problem. He's so big and strong and ornery and stubborn he goes where he pleases. Ordinary fences don't slow him down. He's afraid of nothing — he'll even charge a train."

The humpbacked, droop-nosed giants range over most of this huge state and hunters from the "lower 48" — Alaska's name for the rest of the nation — spend a lot of money in the 49th to bag the trophy moose. Dressing out at 500 to 700 pounds, it provides the winter meat supply for hundreds of Alaskans.

Alive, it brings winter headaches to hundreds of others.

BECOME CLOWNS

It is when the snows are deep that the moose changes personality from Noble King of the Wilds to unfunny Clown-Around-Town.

"Moose gather in the willow patches to browse," Croxton says. "If these happen to be in or near a city or village the moose doesn't mind having humans around, if they don't get in the way. He and his friends may wander through town if food runs short in the willow patch.

"Cleared streets and sidewalks look like excellent trails to the moose.

Occasionally Croxton gets complaints from housewives that moose have walked through their clotheslines and carried away the laundry. In Palmer, a wandering moose tumbled into an open foundation. Mr. and Mrs. Sverre Hansen of Anchorage made a pet one winter of a cow moose they named Emma, but few folks are courageous enough to hand bread out the back door to a big 1,200-pound beast with shifty eyes.

OBSTRUCT RAILS

Moose on the loose are a major problem on railroad and highway. The Alaska Railroad timetable in 1961 warned it was "not responsible for train delays because of moose."

When the snow piles up — and it can pile high enough to hide a caboose — snowplows gouge out a trench intended for the trains, but Moose regard it as a trail and a refuge. He has the same attitude toward cleared highways, where he is more evenly matched. Rarely does a moose derail a train, but he almost always wrecks the car that hits him.

"The moose is like a cow on stilts," Croxton says. "When hit by one of today's low-slung cars it doesn't smash the grille — it usually comes down on top of the driver."

"And Alaskans are learning to watch out for the moose's one-two punch. A driver may slow down to let a cow moose cross the highway, then speed up and hit the car that is losing several yards behind."

WARNING SIGNS

Highway signs remind the driver of the danger and it would help if moose could read. Croxton says a mirror system used in Europe will be given a try — the mirrors along the roadside flash the car's headlights beams over a wide area, giving night drivers a better opportunity to see an approaching moose.

Railroaders, says conductor Ken Porter, hate to kill any animal; but running at slow speed for 10 miles or more behind a galloping moose can strain a man's love of wild creatures.

One engineer tried throwing snowballs as a solution until one huge old bull turned, charged the engine and broke its neck. An irate brakeman chased a train-stalling cow moose off the track with a broom.

Despite all precautions the railway kill may reach 300 or more in a severe winter, most of them in the 100 miles between Palmer and Talkeetna. Train crews are required to report a kill at the next stop and section crews make an effort to recover the carcass.

"It's difficult and sometimes impossible when the temperature is 50 degrees below zero," Croxton says, "but most of the meat is salvaged and it goes to native villages, missions, orphanages and other charities."

If you glance out a window on a winter morning and a moose is looking in, pinch yourself. If it hurts, you're in Alaska.

Plan Color Special On Miss. River

NBC, which is still winning awards in distant places for its documentary "The Nile" is currently turning its attention closer to home and is preparing a color special titled "Our Man on the Mississippi." "Our man" . . . being David Brinkley.

The program will start at the river's source, Lake Itasca in Minnesota where Chippewa Indians grow wild rice and travel the waterway's 2,348 miles to Pilottown, Louisiana where it empties into the Gulf of Mexico.

Though characterized as "a contemporary profile" the program will try to capture the Mark Twain days, too, and visit stately antebellum mansions.

DOUBLE LIFE

Dr. Hagen Staack who last year presented a 13-week TV lecture series on the Book of Genesis is a geologist as well as a theologian and teaches both subjects; geology in Temple University, and religion at Muhlenberg College.

He is readying a new series described as "a three-month course of illustrated lectures on Old Testament personalities." to be presented on Frontiers of Faith commencing February 2.

HUSKY NELSONS

Both Ozie Nelson and his son, David, were football quarterbacks in college.

BUSY SIDELINE

When movies and his current television role in "Petticoat Junction" don't keep him too busy, Smiley Burnette writes songs and so far has penned over 350.
